

Paul Bloom, The War on Reason

1. Paul Bloom cites research indicating that we are physical beings—“soft machines”—who are influenced by forces outside our control or even awareness. Explain Bloom’s case for why we can nevertheless make choices and use reason.