

Alison Gopnik, The Gardener and the Carpenter

1. According to Alison Gopnik, what is the connection between the variability of human environments and the long childhood that humans have evolved? How does her understanding of childhood lead her to conclude that parents are more akin to gardeners than carpenters?